

Estate Sales & Household Transitions

Our Customers Speak . . .

A few words from one of our clients.

From Sharone in Charleston, SC: " Having a warehouse is a wonderful tool for me and my business, except when I know I have too much that I don't need. We are so busy moving from one major event to another that I could not possibly add a warehouse sale to my list. And, my team would probably shoot me!

Ed and his team stepped in to help us uncover all sorts of stuff we didn't need, and merchandised an area in our warehouse to showcase those items to the general public. As a visual person, it was so important to me that everything looked perfect. The Next Chapter team made an unpleasant task fun and exciting, and helped us find a way to make more space for new stuff. I think we can make this an annual purging!"
