

Estate Sales & Household Transitions

Our Customers Speak . . .

A few words from one of our clients.

From Rick in Mayodan, NC: "I had been working on my sweet aunt's estate for months and knew I needed a way to sell some of her household goods. The task of unboxing, cleaning, researching the value, pricing and then conducting the sale seemed just so labor intensive and time consuming. On top of that, I was already spending lots of time at the house getting it ready to sell.

I am so grateful for the help Next Chapter provided. Ed, Sharon and Judy took the key from me and then turned the house into a showcase for my aunt's things. They treated everything with respect, and spent the time I didn't have to coordinate the sale. It was especially helpful that they took time to determine what everything was worth, and found some surprising pieces along the way.

Good news is that the house is now on the market, and my aunt's things have found a good home. She would be pleased."
